Mayor Hewitt wrote the following letter yesterday in reply to some remarks made by ex-Gov. Hoadly of Ohlo at the recent dinner of the Kings County Democratic Club, on the subject of the Electoral Commission: NEW YORK, Feb. 13, 1888.

My DEAR GOVERNOR: I have read your letter to the editor of the New York Times, with referesce to a reported interview with me on the subject of your speech at the Brooklyn dinner, on the 10th instant. You are right in suppos ing that the reporter was in error in quoting the names of Messrs. Carlisle and Pendleton. I did not mention either of them, but did mention Mesers, Thurman and Bayard. There are other verbal errors in the report of what was a purely accidental and not a formal interview. The report was not submitted to me before publication.

The facts are as follows: On the way down in the train I read the report of your speech in the Times, and I had seen no other report. You are represented as saying in reference to Gov. are represented as saying in reference to Gov. Tilden: "It was not his fault that he was not isaugurated. It was without his knowledge and without his consent a course of conduct was determined upon which enabled the Republican party to steal the Presidency."

The first person I meton arriving at my office was the Itmes reporter, who pleasantly remarked that my absence from the dinner of the paint and oil dealors was regretted. I promptly replied that I regretted rather my absence from the Brooklyn dinner, because I was thus prevented from contradicting the was thus prevented from contradicting the statement which you had made in regard to Gov. Tilden's knowledge of the proceedings which led to the passage of the bill providing for the Electoral Commission. I then stated that I had personally communicated to him the plan devised, in advance of its being reported to the House; that he fully discussed every detail of the proposed measure; that he suggested amendments which were subsequently adopted, and that finally, while he did not approve, he did not disapprove of the plan. He was told two thines, first, that if he disapproved the committee would not report the bill, and second, if he did not disapprove of the plan. He was told two thines, first, that if he disapproved the committee would not report the bill, and second, if he did not disapprove did not many proved nor disapprove of it, it would be reported, and in all human probability passed. After this statement was made he neither approved nor disapproved the measure, and I left him with the clear understanding that the measure, it amended in accordance with his suggestions, would be reported. He said that there was no occasion for haste, but I distinctly sofficed him that it would not be possible to defer action of some kind for many days, because the short session was rapidly running to its close. He was kent informed of every amendment, and his advice was followed in regard to the changes made.

Finally, when the bill was perfected and the joint committ "It was not his fault that he was not amendment, and his advice was followed in regard to the changes made.

Finally, when the bill was perfected and the joint committee was ready to report, Gen. Fipal funton refused to sign the report unless he was assured that the bill had the approval of Gov. Tilden. The time of making the report was therefore postrated for one day, and Col. Felion, who was suppesed to represent Gov. Tilden, was sent to New York with the perfected bill for his examination and decision. On his return Col. Pelion report and the Bill. Gen. Hunton thereupon signed the report, and the bill was reported and passed. Whether Col. Pelion told the truth or not I have no means of knowing, but I have no doubt of it, because there was abundant opportunity between the 18th of January, when the bill was reported, and the 26th of January, when it was passed, for Gov. Tilden to have made his objections known, if he had any. He was under no injunction to keep silence, and the bill could never have been passed if at any time before its passage he had indicated his disapproval. It is unjuet, therefore, to chargo other Democratis with having acted contrary to the advice and wishes of Gov. Tilden in that crisis of the Democratic party, wherein an expression of opinion from him would have been decisive of the question. But during the eight whole days while the bill was under discussion in the Senate and House, he never uttered one word of dissent, nor disavowed the statement of Col. Pelton, who was doing all he could to secure the passage of the bill. Gov. Tilden and Col. Pelton are both dead. It may be said that the statement I have made cannot therefore be disproved or denied. But Gen. Hunton is fortunately alive, and the other members of the Electoral Committee are able to testify as to the facts. Moreover, during the lifetime of Gov. Tilden and of Mr. Pelton I took occasion, deliberately on the floor of the House, to make its following statement. Which was never contrately alive, and the other members of the Electoral Committee are able to testify cate of that solution, although it resulted in putting my political adversaries in power. If any man charges, or ever shall charge, that any part which I took about that settlement was governed or an imated by any other consideration than the good of my country. I shall hurl back the allegation as a four slander. And if any man sust that any part which I look in that controversy and the settlement of that issue scan taken against the advice and without the knowledge of the one who was chiefly concerned in it. I say that the allegation is falar. I never knew or stated that he approved of the settlement, but, on the other hand, he never stated to me that he opposed it, and he had abundant opportunity to do so if he had whised to make his opposition known. In what I did I acted on my own responsibility, and was governed by my own sense of duty, but I had no reason to suppose that it was opposed to his midgment. Those who choose may disave responsibility, but no intimation was ever given to me from any quarter that anybody who had a right to speak was opposed to the settlement 4t that question in the manner in which it was seried."

This statement was never controverted by Gov. Tilden in public nor in private, so far as I have ever known, until your letter to the Times of yesterday rectling your conversation with him. I do not for one moment doubt the accuracy of your memory, but I must take issue with the statement in your letter which I have italiciased.

alim. I do not for one moment doubt the accuracy of your memory, but I must take issue with the statement in your letter which I have italicised:

"Samuel J. Tilden was innocent, for he neither consented to nor advised the bill, nor trass consulted in repard thereto,"

If my statement is true, then you are in error in saving that Gov. Tilden was not consulted in remard to the bill, for I now repeat that I consulted with him in remard to every detail of the bill, and, by the authority of my associates on the liouse committee, assured him that the bill would not be reported if he should disapproved of it, and that neither directly nor indirectly did he ever-communicate his disapproval, either to me or to any other member of the House committee. The passage of the bill, therefore, was due to his approval, if Col. Pellot to told the truth, or to his silence for a whole week, if he was misrepresented. I do not make this statement in order to relieve myself from any responsibility, but in justice to my Democratic colleagues in Congress, who did not and could not for one moment suspect that they were voting against the wishes of Gov. Tilden, but had every reason to helieve, in view of the urgent appeals of Col. Pelton, that the measure had his positive approval, I during his lifetime Gov. Tilden do not plead the baby act, it would be well, it seems to me, for those who profess to honor his memory to imitate his wise example. Yours sincerely.

Who Wants Fractional Paper Currency ! ALLIANCE, Ohio, Feb. 13.-The Leader which for some time has been urging a return to the use of fractional paper currency, will morrow publish the views of a number of Congressmen, and particularly of the Ohio delegation, on the subject. The members of this delegation seem to be about evenly divided on the question. Of those heard from, Campbell, Romete, J. D. Taylor, and Wickham are in favor of the move, while Grosvenor. Foran, Williams, and Boothman are on the other side, with several on the fence. With these latter might be classed Senators Sherman and Payne, with several on the fence. "You see Milligan does not want to go to St Louis next season," said Mr. Von der Ahe, "on secount of a sick wife, or something of that sort, but I think after I have a little talk with him it will be all right. I have already offered him $600 more than he got last season, and don't see what more he can ask. While I am there I shall run over to see McGarr and one or two other men whom I expect to get also."
"What about playing the New York Club this

I have toid Mr. Mutrie what I would come here for, and if he wants to come to St. Louis I will allow him the same guarantee that I ask to come here. However, there is plenty of time between new and March 2, when I shall be here again to settle the series."

"What about cevering the bleaching boards on your grounds?"

"I understand that one or two clubs have decided to do this. What others do for the comfort of their patrons I will do also. One of my free stands is evered already, and it will not take long to cover the other."

"Are you going to take a team to Europe at the end of next season?"

"That is one of the grandest schemes of the day. I looked over the ground very carefully while I was away, and found that the national game was taiked about over there more than one would think. Hundreds of sport lovers asked ne how these great games were played and how many went to a game. When I explained the game and told them between 25,000 and 30,000 persons have attended a single game, and that so small a number as 8,000 or 10,000 was a daily occurrence they were simply astounded. When I told them that something over 100,000 attended the games on last Decoration Day they were simply broken up. I understand that President Day of the New York Club may want to send a team even if I go pex fall. That is just the thing I would like.

derstand that President Day of the New York Club may want to send a team even if I go next fail. That is just the thing I would like. I am geing to work it up."

"By the way," added Mr. Von der Ahe, changing the subject, "there has been so much said about the fifty-cent tariff that I would like to say for the base ball lovers of St. Louis that I have not heard a single complaint about the increase of price. A large number of my patrons are business men, and they recognize the fact that a good team costs more every year, and they are willing to pay the increase. St. Louis will have just as good a team next seasen as it ever had, and it will be up among the leaders just the same.

Pitrssungu, Feb. 13.—James Galvin signed a contract as pitcher with the Pittsburgh Base Bail Club this afternoon for the seasen of 1888. After all the talk about an increase in salary the club has done the fair thing by The Likile Engine. Last season he played for $2.100, but under his new contract he will get $1.000, $1.000 of which he draws as advance money. OFFICE OF DREXEL, MORGAN & CO., 23 WALL ST., NEW YORK, FEB. 9, 1839

TO THE SECURITY HOLDERS AND OTHER CREDITORS OF THE

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co.

At the request of holders of large amounts of the stock, bonds, and other obligations of the Chesapeake and Chio Railway Company, we have agreed to ceoperate in the reorganization of the affairs of that company; and at our suggestion Meaurs. C. H. Conter, R. J. Cross, and Antheny J. Thomas have undertaken to act as a committee to carry the reorganization into effect. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway extends from Newport News to the Big Sandy River, there connecting with lines to the Southwest. An important extension along the Ohio River from Ashland to Cincinnati (including a bridge across the river at that point) was undertaken some time ago by separate companies, but, owing to its expensive character, has not been completed, although about $5,000,000 has already been spent upon it. This line, if secured for the Chesapeake and Ohio, would bring it in direct connection with the rallways to Chicage and the entire West and Northwest, and obtain for it business of which it now receives only a small part by circuitous and expensive routes and under great disadvantages.

The reorganization includes this new line and bridge.

which will represent when completed, an estimated ex-penditure of at least $8,80,000 in actual cash, for the sattlement of which provision is made in the reorganisa-tion, and a syndicate has already been formed to guarantes the required funds from sale of bonds, and from assessments on stock, as detailed further on.

The reorganization further contemplates the reduction of fixed charges to a sum approximating the present net earnings, as published, of the Chesapeake and Ohie Railway, irrespective of the new line, which should prove a valuable acquisition in itself, and should also add largely to the earning capacity of the reorganized company, and impart additional safety and permanent value to the several classes of new securities

PLAN OF REORGANIZATION:

New Securities. First consolidated mortgage 5 per cent. 50 year gold bonds.

First preferred 5 per cent. noncumulative, stock, about. $12,000,000

Ben-cumulative, stock, about 12,000,000
Common stock, about. 40,000,000
60,000 $64,000,000

These securities will represent an ownership, not only of the present line of the Chesapsake and Ohio Railway from Newport News to the Big Sandy River, but also (through the acquisition of all the bonds and nearly three-fourths of the stock) of the new line (including the bridge) from Ashland to Cincinnati. The bonds of the reorganized Chesapsake and Ohio Railway Campany are to have an absolute first line on all the Company are to have an absolute first lien on all this additional property, either by mortgage or collateral deposit of securities before mentioned. The new bends will not begin to bear interest until reorganization is completed. The Reorganization Committee have the right to capitalise a sum equal to one-fifth of the interest for two years, should they deem it more prudent, prior to the delivery of the new bonds.

In case the line from Arhland to Cincinnati (including the bridge) should cost over $8.800,000, additional Pires Preferred Stock will be issued for and taken in paynent of the excess at par.

To-day's stock market was more devoid of interest than any of its immediate predecessors. The local trading element appeared to be responsible for nearly all of the transactions. London held aloof, but the quotations there were practically the same as were current here at the close on Saturday. In the early dealings the market was raided in con nection with reports of a strike of the coal miners in the Wyoming region, but neither unfavorable reports nor bear manipulation had any particular effect upon prices. In the ate trading advices relative to the coal strike received by way of Philadelphia were very en ouraging, indicating a speedy collapse of the unfortunate movement. These reports appeared to inspire some fairly good buying of Reading, and the consequent advance in that stock influenced the entire list favorably. Reading was an exception in closing a shade ern Union, in which the dealings were very light. The only phase of the dealings that pro voked unfavorable comment was the moder stely effective selling of Lake Shore. Good reasons for these sales are not apparent. The company is certainly not involved nor is it likely to be drawn into the railroad fight west of Chicago, while it is difficult to imagine that the Vanderbilt interests will allow the South Pennsylvania scheme to take any direction detrimental to trunk line barmony, and especially to the injury of their own existing enterprises. The only news bearing upon stock values was the preliminary statement of the St. Paul Company for the year, which is given below, and the execution of the Oregon Railway and Navigation joint lease by the efficers of that company and of the Union Pacific. The Northern Pacific Company executed it some little time ago, so that now the document is complete. reasons for these sales are not apparent. The
